City Hall for 'Song' If Buses Taken Too

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Victoria yesterday was offered a cut-rate city hall as an inducement for the city to take over the B.C. Electric transit system as a package deal.

Czechs Topple Idols

VIENNA (UPI) — Czech Communist authorities have ordered the 180-ton statue of Josef Stalin removed immediately from a memorial site overlooking Prague.

The Czech Communist central committee has also ordered the dismantling of a statue of former president Klement Gottwald, a Stalin protégé, removed from the Prague Mausoleum and reburied in a cemetery.

Workers Will Win Douglas Tells Rich

TORONTO (CP) — T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said Tuesday night his party hasn't money such as is available to other political groups, but it has members who believe in social democracy and economic justice.

"There is no force in the world can stand against them when they are aroused," he declared.

"There is a day coming in Canada when the people who are tired of working so that others may grow fat, live in fancy houses that we can't hope to possess and have luxuries when we haven't even the necessities."

"They will join hands and go marching forward to form government and to build a new democracy."

Mr. Douglas was addressing a nominating convention in Toronto Davenport constituency. Speeches were given in English, Polish, Italian, Ukrainian and German.

More Snow Today?

This may happen again today. Heavy equipment clears Malahat, buried under inches of snow that some melted in Tuesday's rain. Snow closed Shawnigan cut-off for time and led RCMP to restrict Malahat travel to cars with snow tires or chains. Weather office last night predicted more showers for high spots again overnight. — (Hynes Bree photo.)

'Shrunk Head Demand Created by Rockefeller'

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UPI) — Dutch officials warned Michael Rockefeller to stop seeking headhunter trophies because he was "creating a demand which could not be met without bloodshed," a Dutch official said here.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, deputy governor-general of Dutch New Guinea, now in Holland on a visit, said he was well acquainted with the 23-year-old son of the governor of New York.

"He was going after headhunter relics along the coast

'Trade Boom Caused'

"Michael's presence there led to a tremendous increase in local trade, especially in beautifully carved and painted human heads."

"A few weeks ago it was reported to me that members of the headhunter tribe approached the area administrator for permission to go headhunting for one evening only, please, sir."

"This was because Michael was offering 10 steel hatchets for one head. We had to warn

Governor Joins Search

BIAK, New Guinea (UPI) — Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York arrived by chartered jet plane yesterday at this northern New Guinea island some 300 miles from the spot where his 23-year-old son Michael disappeared last week.

With hope dimming that Michael would be found alive, Rockefeller met immediately with Dutch government officials for search news.

There was hope that Michael had reached shore after leaving a companion aboard their native-style boat. But the shore line was a swamp infested by snakes and crocodiles.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, New Guinea deputy governor general, said in Holland, it "would be a miracle if Rockefeller is found alive."

KENNEDY POISED FOR POWER PLAY

May Act as Mediator Between B.C., Ottawa

By TERRY HAMMOND

In a situation unprecedented in Canada-U.S. diplomatic relations, President John Kennedy seems set to cast himself in the role of intermediary in the bitter B.C.-Ottawa Columbia power feud.

Dispatches from the United States capital and from Ottawa yesterday coincided with the Colonist's exclusive report on the controversial Seattle meeting last Thursday of President Kennedy and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

From information elicited from senior U.S. power authorities and other sources the Colonist said President Kennedy had sold President Kennedy and his power advisers on the B.C. plan for Columbia River development and in return would get White House help in persuading Ottawa to do an about-face on its power export ban.

In a bylined report yesterday, well-known Canadian Press Washington correspondent Harold Morrison stated that the U.S. state department next week will weigh the advisability of President Kennedy inviting Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to Washington for a meeting on the Columbia.

Morrison quoted well-informed sources as stating that the whole matter is of extreme sensitivity because President Kennedy does not want to seem to be interfering in Canada's domestic affairs.

But although informants

said the U.S. president had nothing to do with planning the talks with Premier Bennett they admitted Kennedy requested and was given a great deal of background information on the Columbia River controversy before he left for Seattle where the talks took place.

The meeting between the president and the premier was "engineered," they said, by Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington State.

A-Ban Talks Agreed

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union yesterday accepted a U.S.-British invitation to resume negotiations for a nuclear test ban under terms that left little hope for agreement.

Soviet foreign ministry notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies said the Russians had agreed to resume the three-power talks in Geneva Nov. 28—the date proposed by Washington and London in a note of Nov. 12.

But the Soviets posed two conditions that foreign observers said could paralyze the new round of the test ban conference almost from the start.

One condition was that the Russians reserved the right to test nuclear weapons if "any power" does so while the talks are in progress.

FINAL GOAL

The second Soviet condition appeared to be that the United States and Britain commit themselves in advance to the Soviet position that general and complete disarmament be the final goal of the Geneva talks.

Nothing in the note indicated the Soviets are ready to abandon their insistence on a three-man "troika" directorship of a test ban control agency.

Support Britain —Farmers

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's basic attitude should be one of support for Britain's negotiations to join the European Common Market, the largest national farm group said Tuesday.

Dangers exist from the market itself and from Britain's possible entry, president H. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture told the federal provincial agriculture conference.

But the smart move appears to be to assist such a development. Dr. Hannam said in a submission reflecting the stand of one of the elements of the economy most vulnerable to trade disruption.

U.K., Malaya In Agreement

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and Malaya were reported Tuesday to have reached a virtual agreement in talks on the creation of a "greater Malaysia" comprising Malaya and Singapore and the British territories of North Borneo, Brunei and Sarawak.

500 Fund Off to Fine Start

Though The Daily Colonist's 500 Christmas Fund for 1961 is less than three days old, the people of Victoria have responded more rapidly than ever before with help for their less fortunate neighbors.

Total last night stood at $1,119.88 with more cheques appearing in every mail.

Along with his family's annual cheque for $25 came Mayor Percy Scurrell's best wishes for the most successful fund drive ever.

The 500 Fund provides a worthwhile community service," he said. "It fills a real need in the community and I urge everyone who can to contribute."

To what use is 500 Fund money put after collections end just before Christmas?

The total is divided by 500 and a cheque for the amount sent to each of the 500 families in the Greater Victoria area who need it the most.

In the sense that no strings are attached to expenditure of the money, the 500 Fund seeks to bypass ordinary charity. Instead, it may be considered a Christmas gift from those who have a little extra to those who have nothing to spare at all.

Uses for the money are as many as there are individual needs. A 500 Fund cheque arriving two or three days before Christmas can mean a toy for a child, food for the family, warm clothing for an invalid—even a little fun in an otherwise bleak existence.

Donors are asked to specify whether or not they wish to remain anonymous since lists of donations will be published regularly. Receipts for income tax purposes will be supplied on request.

Donations for the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund may be mailed or delivered to The Daily Colonist at 2631 Douglas.

Here is the list of donations received to date:

Gap Narrowed

Berlin Talks 'Productive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany conducted "exhaustive and productive" talks on Communist-threatened West Berlin Tuesday. Diplomatic sources reported they narrowed the gap on what to tell the Soviet Union, if and when the Big Four meet to solve the Berlin crisis.

The two Western leaders met for more than four hours during the day, both with and without their aides.

A joint statement issued after the afternoon session called the discussions "exhaustive and productive" as well as "fruitful." White House press secretary Pierre Salinger described them as "workmanlike" and "certainly cordial."

Congo Veto Feared

Fight Rages Over UN Mandate

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Despite an impassioned appeal by The Congo, Russia yesterday threatened to veto a proposal for broadening the UN Congo mandate.

The 11-member UN Security Council adjourned to Friday after an angry exchange of obstruction charges by the U.S. and Russia.

Foreign Minister Bomboko of The Congo strongly supported a U.S. proposal the UN be authorized to help retrain the Congolese army. This would enable the central government to deal with secessionist moves.

The U.S. accused Russia of raising the threat of veto at the last moment... with attempting to dictate to the council although its members — and Bomboko — indicated support for the U.S. plan.

Intent of the proposal is to broaden the mandate to give acting secretary-general U Thant power to deal with secessionist moves no matter where they occur.

Meanwhile, Congolese Premier Adoula came under attack in parliament for his speech in which he said he was "ashamed" of the Congolese army because of the slaying of the Italians.

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Sure Lianer, UN civilian chief in The Congo, pledged Tuesday to a group of Italian soldiers that the Congolese soldiers who massacred 13 Italian air- men will be punished.

UN to Discuss Cuban Charge

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin has summoned the Security Council to meet today to discuss a Cuban charge of threatened U.S. "aggression" against the Dominican Republic.

The Cuban complaint was based on the presence of U.S.

warships in Dominican waters. The U.S. raised no objection. Cuba demanded immediate action to stop an "invasion" by the U.S. but the council was not expected to act on Cuba's request, however, until it disposes of its current debate on The Congo.

The Time Has Come

EVENTS of the past week have confirmed the unofficial but firm suspicions of some senior Canadian cabinet ministers that Prime Minister Macmillan is not fulfilling his pledge to keep Commonwealth countries fully informed of Britain's negotiations with the European Common Market.

The fact that this is so, despite the British prime minister's assurances to the contrary, was first brought to public light in a lively debate in the British House of Commons last Thursday.

There, under fire from his critics, Mr. Macmillan admitted that Commonwealth governments were provided not with full verbatim reports of the talks but only with prepared summaries.

In defending his stand Mr. Macmillan hinted that if full information were provided to Commonwealth governments the danger of "leakage" would be increased. "There is always a danger in passing around documents for wide circulation that something comes out. I think the danger is where much duplicated documents are passed and we are trying to restrict it," he said.

His added words of attempted clarification "... there might be certain aspects of documents which should not be circulated..." only caused one of his own back-benchers to declare: "If any leaks take place, they are much more likely to come from Continental countries than from the Commonwealth."

Referring to the recent briefing of Commonwealth representatives in London, Mr. Macmillan also revealed that the Lord Privy Seal (Mr. Edward Heath) had given them a summary "but not the actual verbatim report of his speech to the Rome Treaty countries."

Opposition leader Hugh Gaitskill immediately asked: "What is the reason for this distinction? Surely if we want to carry the Commonwealth with us in negotiations there must be no room for lack of confidence between the Commonwealth representatives and Mr. Heath?"

When Mr. Macmillan failed to come up with a satisfactory answer, his cabinet colleague, Secretary for Commonwealth Relations Mr. Duncan Sandys, said: "These are very delicate negotiations and could easily be prejudiced if there was a leakage of documents."

And so the debate for the day concluded. And though it accomplished nothing in breaking down the peculiar attitude of the government, it did succeed in making public the fact that Canadian suspicions were not unfounded by forcing an admission from Mr. Macmillan that Commonwealth countries were not being kept fully informed on the ECM negotiations despite his earlier promises.

This, along with his insulting inference that the Commonwealth governments are poor security risks, is likely to precipitate a swing in public opinion both in Britain and throughout the Commonwealth away from the present sympathetic view they are taking of Britain's position.

If Britain wants to go it alone in this matter it is her own affair. But surely the time has come for the Commonwealth nations to be told where they stand.

Glib Proposal

ONE CANDIDATE for the mayoralty of Victoria,

Mr. R. B. Wilson, has recognized the difficulties involved in taking over the costly operation of the Greater Victoria bus system; a problem which sooner or later will face the residents and taxpayers of the whole metropolitan area and not Victoria city alone.

Two others, Mr. J. Donald Smith, M.L.A., and Mr. Elmer McEwen, appear to be trying to convince the voters that all one or the other needs to do is wave a magic mayoral wand and the city alone can solve the problem in quick order—thus, it might be mentioned, taking the provincial government off the hook.

Among the latest proposals of Mr. Smith and Mr. McEwen—and it was a strange coincidence that both should think of the same thing at the same time—is that the city should take over the bus system at once.

Operated by experts, it has been losing hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

But Mr. McEwen, a restaurateur, says that it can "be made a paying proposition with a proper, rapid bus service," and Mr. Smith, a real estate dealer, as glibly suggests that reducing the fares would increase patronage "and I believe it can be operated on a financially sound basis; in any event, his proposal appears to be that the B.C. Power Commission would not only turn over the bus system to be run by civic officials (and perhaps civic bumbler) for a year on a trial basis, but would reimburse the city for any loss.

Such generosity is hard to imagine; as hard as it is to believe that the B.C. Electric, when proprietor, was not interested in running the buses efficiently and profitably, or with the least possible loss.

On thinking voters, this fuzzy plank nailed simultaneously to two platforms should not make much of an impression.

Names Are Ticklish

THIS IS AN AGE of initials but Mr. Douglas doesn't want his New Democratic Party's name abbreviated to NDP. The CCF tag of its predecessor was all right because Co-operative Commonwealth Federation was too big a mouthful, but NDP is something else again.

In fact CCF was a handy term of reference; it fitted the headlines easily and thus acquired a publicity value that was of no little gain to the party. Many people familiar with the letters CCF probably couldn't have said what they stood for.

Apparently NDP wouldn't have equal merit, however, for Mr. Douglas prefers that his socialist grouping should be known as New Democrats.

Names are ticklish things, from which people are apt to draw conclusions. The prefix "new" could suggest that the CCF has only now become democratic, as compared with the older parties. These don't titillate describe themselves as "democrats" but they have been providing democratic governments for the past century.

The NDPs only barely became New Democrats. There was strong backing for retention of the "New Party" title used while the CCF-CLC merger was in process. This was at least a clear-cut name proclaiming newness although perhaps ambiguous in identity. It also left out the flavor of democracy.

Shakespeare first puzzled the world about names, and they have been of concern ever since. Hence Mr. Douglas' problem, for easy reference is a boon. Admittedly too New Democrats sound more felicitous than NDPs.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and hats, and feeling wax...

By TOM TAYLOR

IT is necessary to sleep in order to keep awake all day. That is how Nietzsche explained this mysterious suspension of self, according to a book on such things I looked up.

There is more to it than that, however, even if no one seems to know exactly what.

I have been reading a piece about sleep, as familiar a subject as ever came to man's notice. And as inexplicable as life itself. Medical science doesn't have the answer, although this needn't dilute our faith in medicine. It is a boon.

So, of course, is sleep; that much is beyond cavil. Thus it is we count sheep when insomnia keeps us awake, hoping that the higher the calculus the more quickly will sleep come.

Happily I know more about sleep than I do about sheep.

My only peculiarity in this regard being that at midnight I am seldom the least bit sleepy, but at 8 a.m. I am nothing else but.

This is a phenomenon equally as strange as sleep.

Sleep indeed reminds me of clothes. When one has spent one-third of one's life to date in the coma we call sleep one might reasonably assume to be its kin. Yet a visit to a clothing emporium might suggest otherwise. The superior air of a sales clerk who affects to know better than you do what suits you is astonishing.

If except from this remark, naturally, the haberdashers with whom I am on friendly speaking terms.

But I have strayed from sleep, although perhaps in a manner enviable to the sleepless. Thought of a new wardrobe should at least be more palatable than multiplication when sleep does not come. Could one sum on this vision calmly one might lie at ease as one sits at ease in daylight dose. And the eerie tension of insomnia being relaxed no doubt sleep would come with pleasant swiftness.

But wakefulness in the night and in the daytime are different things.

I gather that insomnia is more rife than ever, or allegedly so. Some people will affirm with a straight face that they didn't sleep a wink all night, believing they speak the truth. Others will say they slept the sleep of the just and didn't once turn an inch sideways, which I am told is most unlikely to be so.

So that sleep, as well as being mysterious, is also a tricky handmaiden to veracity.

Speaking as a layman who as I say fortunately knows more about sleep than insomnia, in a non-scientific sense of course, I suppose the urban excitement of modern life increases the number of rural sheep jumping over stiles. Man is a thinking animal who has recently got above himself, one observer has said—and not meaning just sputniks in the sky; myself I would say he is a curious animal who spins a web of worry around his doings, and this takes its toll when he goes to bed at night.

Hence the barbiturates now swallowed. I understand, by the carload.

All of which will not be one bit helpful to the insomniaic, I fear, nor perhaps the person kept awake by snoring, another human phenomenon albeit it is one never heard or admitted by the snorer.

But if medical science can't explain sleep or suggest a remedy for sleeplessness apart from pills or injections their patients unwisely disobey, then supposedly one is free to comment helplessly on the subject also.

Sleep is as nice as woman; the more I count it, the more it flies me. So said Sir John Tuckling, I find, a cavalier and poet who apparently knew whereof he spoke.

With the Classics

Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow.

Creeps in this petty pace from day to day.

To the last syllable of recorded time;

And all our yesterdays have lighted fools the way to dusty death.

Out, out, brief candle!

Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player That struts and frets his hour upon the stage, And then is heard no more. It is a tale Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, Signifying nothing.

'Stalinism' ... What Does It Mean?

By OTTO VON HARBURG

THE recent Communist Party Congress of the U.S.S.R. once again popularized the slogan of "Stalinism." The word's meaning remains vague and it is consequently used without discrimination. The majority of the commentators give it a sinister connotation, serving thus, by their muddled thinking, Moscow's propaganda. Thanks to "Stalinism" we create the fiction of "good" and "bad" Communists.

Khrushchev, trampling the grave of his predecessor, becomes automatically an anti-Stalinist, that is, he is less undesirable than others. Our so-called experts go from there to recommend more flexibility in dealing with the "moderates" of the present Kremlin line, who supposedly fight heroically against the infamous war-mongering Stalinists.

It was sickening to hear and read the stupidities expressed on the transfer of the old dictator's body. Respectable Sovietologists called this a political gesture, though anyone even slightly acquainted with history will see in it simply the repetition of an age-old tradition. In the Pharaoh's Egypt as in Byzance, the new tyrant frequently desecrated his predecessor's tomb, hoping by this act to increase his own stature. There is really nothing new under the sun. Authentic "Stalinism" is only a tactical position. In his fight against Trotsky, the Georgian sustained that left-wing totalitarian in so-called capitalist countries should subordinate their actions to the interests of Communist governments. In his eyes the parties were but instruments of Kremlin foreign policy. Trotsky, on the other hand, asserted, that was the latter's duty by all means to help the fight of the struggling countries. Stalin thus wanted to vest the last decisions in the established regimes; Trotsky claimed this right for the forces battling in enemy territory. Applied to 1961, we can thus state that Khrushchev continues in the straight line of his predecessor, while Mao Tse-tung is inspired by the prophet of the "permanent revolution." This is the true so-called ideological difference between Stalinists and anti-Stalinists. It is, as one can see, relatively unimportant and has no fundamental significance. The only question seems to be who will give the order to destroy the Free World.

Really, one needs an overdose of naivete to be the dupe of such a distinction which, at best, leaves to the prospective victim only the grisly choice between one and the other executioner.

Britain's Health Service

Something for the U.S. to Learn

By CANANDA, from London

WHEN I go to the United States, an affectionate and pleasurable journey that is a recurrent malady with me, I nearly always suffer from some temporary sickness.

Such as deafness—which in certain conversational circumstances is like "the Pickwick, the Owl and the Waverley Pen," and "comes as a Boon and Blessing to men."

Or the Red itch that covered me from truck to keelson when I was in Omaha a year ago and caused the local doctors to look me up and down and say: "Sir, you look mighty mean!"

On such encounters, American doctors nearly always ask me what I think about the British National Health Service.

I then tell them categorically that it is the finest piece of legislation that has ever brought the balm and blessing of healing to the Anglo-Saxon race.

At this—the conversation usually takes place in some mammoth hotel where they have a resident doctor to deal with the diseased, wandering customers—they drop their stethoscopes. They put down their syringes and forgo—if you happen to be in emergency child birth—and say: "You are, of course, a Communist?"

I was taking the other day to Senator Estes Kefauver in Washington about this subject.

Mr. Kefauver made his name as the best racket-buster the United States has ever had. At the moment he is engaged in another racket-busting operation over the price of drugs—a subject that has recently come under close scrutiny in this country.

In the United States a medicine that costs, say, ten cents to produce is often sold at five dollars—a fifty-fold increase between cost and sale price.

Flattery

I asked the senator if American doctors were in favor of his campaign to reduce prescription costs. He said that, in the main, this was not the case.

Doctors were most carefully courted by the big drug houses. They were wooed and dined—if not directly bribed. They were paid grossly disproportionate sums for writing treatises in technical journals which dealt with the products of drug houses.

And they responded well—which means basely—to this flattering treatment.

In the United States illness is often a financial disaster. A simple operation like appendicitis can cost a poor man at least a hundred pounds. The ailing body is bled white for all it is worth.

We have many faults in this country and the National Health Service is certainly no flawless. But the United States, so progressive and so humanitarian in such a multiplicity of ways, has yet to learn this kindly trick from us.

Chapel vs. Pub Wales has gone half wet on Sundays.

The Welsh, ever a practical and flexible people, have always drunk more deeply when the pubs have been shut by repairing to the thousands of five-bob clubs that are scattered all over Cambria.

I predict a decline in the total consumption of alcohol in Wales—now that it is made more available on Sundays.

I always remember being present some years ago at a famous restaurant in Sydney, Australia, on the day they were licensed there.

There was deep gloom all round.

"We are ruined," said the manager, "absolutely ruined. When this place was a respectable speakeasy, contradicting every licensing law, we sold unlimited booze."

"Now that we are strictly legal, thirsts will be quenched without a drop of liquor passing the customers' lips."

My Baby

It is difficult to raise a hearty cheer for the BBC. That would be coarse.

All one does it to doff one's hat and walk respectfully by.

I do so now.

The BBC has firmly banned a new record called "God, Country and My Baby."

The theme of this slush is that some throaty strapping, probably kidnapped into a army by brute force, is nevertheless prepared to go abroad and serve on behalf of the Almighty, the United States and "My Baby."

"My Baby" is not, as might be expected a sucking infant.

It is a moonstruck lusty wench on which this strapping Mars, made of whipped cream chocolate, has base, amorous designs.

Thank you, Mr. Hugh Carleton Greene, director general of the BBC.

Red Link Inopportune

By WILLIAM GIANDONI

BRAZIL has delayed plans to resume formal diplomatic relations with Russia. It is not because President Joao Goulart or his advisers have turned anti-Communist, but because they figure Brazilian public opinion is not ready.

Brazilian diplomatic observers say that, if anything, Goulart and his government are more determined than ever to exchange ambassadors with the Soviet Union.

Goulart feels, as did former President Janio Quadros, that such a move would be the most dramatic way to prove to the world that Brazilian foreign policy is "independent," not dictated by the United States.

But Goulart is not sure that the Brazilian people would tolerate such a show of interest in or sympathy with Russia.

It should be remembered that Quadros, whose sudden resignation in August opened the way for Goulart's rise to power, was most widely criticized for mere symbolic gestures, like the award of a Brazilian decoration to Cuba's economic czar, Ernesto Guevara. Yet they were enough to turn Brazilians against him.

According to reports from Brazil, Russian nuclear testing shocked the Brazilian people, even those who previously had been in favor of striking up diplomatic relations with Russia again.

What is more, Cardinal Jaime Camara, one of the Catholic Church's top-ranking spokesmen in Brazil, sought and obtained a conference with Brazilian Foreign Minister San Tiago Dantas to spell out to him the political and ideological dangers involved.

The cardinal, the well-informed news magazine, Vista, says, did not veto closer ties with the Soviet but did emphasize how "inopportune" they could be in times of social tension, like the present.

This does not mean, as Brazil is proving in the Organization of American States, that the government has had

Like Cars

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of my prosperous friends claims to understand and appreciate modern abstract and non-representational art. He goes to all the exhibitions, reads all the books, buys all the slick magazines full of reproductions of these bizarre arrangements of color, and, to top it all, buys quite a number of the paintings and curious sculptures offered by the practitioners.

"The only trouble is," he says, "you have to keep disposing of the former ones to make way for the new ones, as your appreciation and understanding improves. Naturally, a used abstract is not worth as much as a fresh one. In fact, it is sometimes hard to get rid of one you've had two years. It's sort of like the used car market."

I suggested that perhaps these contemporary works were not so much art as merchandise.

"Well, not exactly," he figured. "They are, you might say, performances. Many of these contemporary painters and sculptors are performers rather than creators. They belong, actually to the performing arts."

Not a bad rationalization.

any change of heart on the Cuban problem. Brazil still insists that the best way to handle Fidel Castro and the Communist threat from Cuba is to ignore it.

Any intervention, armed or diplomatic, collective or unilateral on the part of the United States, would just enhance the attraction of Castro and the aura of martyrdom in which Cuba is now enveloped, according to the Brazilians.

Goulart's decision, though, to delay resuming relations with Russia already has prompted Red criticism of his government. The outlawed, but active, Brazilian Communist party is now saying that Goulart is a reactionary and obedient to pressures from the United States.

The best indication of Brazilian public opinion on the whole matter, however, will not come until next year, when congressional elections are to be held. The Communists and other leftists hope to use the issue then.

Letters to the Editor

Credit to Firemen

As a new resident to Victoria, I would like, if possible, through the medium of your paper to thank the boys of the Oak Bay fire department for their help in an emergency last Friday night.

My wife had a heart attack and not knowing who to call, called the fire department emergency for a doctor. Within minutes they were here with oxygen and rushed her to hospital.

The way the two gentlemen took over and the efficient way in which they worked is a credit not only to the two men, but to the department as a whole.

Misinformed

I wish to draw your attention to an error in the letter-press which appears under my photograph on page 23 of your Nov. 19 edition.

It is made to appear that I conducted a world affairs class at Victoria University. The fact is I acted as leader of a home study group in connection with Victoria College night classes.

I am no longer a member of the Local Council of Women although, for some years, I was.

Fleming After Trip:

Canada Not Welcome In European Market

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada "wouldn't be welcome in the European Common Market even if it wanted to join," Finance Minister Fleming said yesterday.

He also told a press conference he is "very much interested" in United States government proposals which he said are aimed at freer trade—but not free trade—between Western Europe and North America.

Mr. Fleming, who returned late Monday from talks in Europe and London, said Canada "couldn't join the Common Market even if she wanted to."

For one thing the six-nation trade bloc was essentially a European group.

There were difficulties of "reconciling economic interests." Another was the Common Market idea of political unification which entered the thinking of some Common Market members in particular.

Mr. Fleming indicated he saw no conflict between his statement and recent speeches by Trade Minister Hees—including one yesterday in Toronto—concerning studies being made on the effect of Canadian membership in the Common Market.

Mr. Hees said when the studies are completed "we will know whether joining the Common Market would be a net gain or a loss in production and employment for Canada as a whole."

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Hees was referring to the broader question of Canadian trade relations with the Common Market.

Industry 'Killed'

Union, Management Denounced

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Manitoba government report, made public after conviction of two Toronto businessmen on charges arising from the tangled affairs of a Brandon meat-packing firm, has denounced both union and management for having "done their best to destroy an important Manitoba industry."

The report of Mr. Justice G. E. Tritschler of the Manitoba Court of Appeal after an inquiry into a strike at Brandon Packers for six months in 1960, had been withheld pending a verdict in the trial of Hugh Paton and Hubert Cox, former principal owners.

Paton, 42, and Cox, 47, were convicted Monday night and sentenced by Mr. Justice A. M. Monnin to seven-year prison terms.

They were arrested last Jan. 12 after an investigation touched off by the inquiry.

The report was emphatic in blaming both labor leaders and management for the strike and its aftermath.

contended the strike should not have taken place.

Recommendations include changing labor laws to make both unions and management groups legal entities and to provide for supervised strike votes where necessary. Others boycotts and tight control of picketing, including restricting it to the plant actually undergoing a strike.

And the Manitoba labor board should have wider powers where strikers are replaced by non-strikers.

All these factors were involved in the Brandon strike, called over wage differentials by Local 255 of the United Parkhouse Workers Feb. 28 last year.

The strike was settled by an agreement which the report claims was no better than the company's last pre-strike offer.

The report found "shocking" behavior of management (Paton and Cox) and...

shabby performance of the union and several labor organizations.

"Paton and Cox were guilty of conduct which deserves to be condemned in the strongest terms. These greedy men milking and left a gravely wounded industry which can be restored only by new capital of which presently there is no prospect."

"The hostility of professional society outside the labor movement is frightening. They stir up and foster in a completely irresponsible manner class hatreds and a contempt for the law, both civil and criminal."

Indians Advised to Beware Infiltration of Brotherhood

ALERT BAY (CP)—Immigration Minister Fairclough told the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia last night to guard against infiltration of the Indian organization by persons who might attempt to use the brotherhood for their own purposes.

She made the statement at the annual convention of the brotherhood but did not give any details of attempts by non-Indian bodies to infiltrate the brotherhood.

ALLOW WHITES

However it is understood she was referring to representations made in the past to allow whites into the all-Indian confederation.

ATTEMPTS MADE

"I have noted with considerable interest that on occasion in the history of the brotherhood attempts were made by non-Indian groups to use your organization for their own purposes," she said. "These efforts you have withstood with admirable foresight and sagacity."

ON GUARD

Mrs. Fairclough said she hopes the brotherhood will "continue to be on guard against infiltration and blandishments of non-Indian organizations who might seek to subvert and use this great brotherhood of native people to their own ends."

ATTEND SCHOOL

Referring to the education of Indian children, the minister said 86 per cent of the Indian school population in B.C. attend school regularly, an enviable record comparing favorably with that of the white school population in Canada.

Federal expenditures on Indian affairs have risen to $46,400,000 in 1961 from $27,500,000 in 1957.

Fire Levels Plant Town Needs Help

GRAND RIVIERE, Que. (UPI)—Mayor Berlin Laizer last night declared this Gaspe South community a disaster area after a fire completely levelled a $1,000,000 cold storage and ice manufacturing plant and thousands of tons of winter provisions.

The fire at Les Entrepts Frigorifiques, a provincial government agency, which began about 4 a.m. EDT, was believed caused by a short circuit.

The plant—which serves as a storehouse for vegetables, meat, and other foods—was completely levelled by the blaze. Firemen vainly battled the flames for nearly 12 hours. Only burning debris was left of the once prosperous enterprise.

"The population now finds itself in a desperate situation, and I hope the proper authorities will give us all the help we need," said Mayor Laizer.

Only Battle Will Be Warm As Stamps, Bombers Clash

WINNIPEG (CP)—Weather forecasts were most and drink for rival coaching staffs on the eve of the second game of the Western Football Conference final tonight.

Both favored Winnipeg Blue Bombers and upstart Calgary Stampeders.

Tonight's game will be televised over channels 3 and 6, beginning at 6:30, according to the CBC.

Stampeders seem to want the weather man to predict the same thing—no wind or snow.

The game starts at 6:30 p.m. (PST) with the prospect of a dry field—although snow fell intermittently Tuesday—temperatures in the 20s and little or no wind.

FIELD COVERED

The weather office says there may be a little snow before the game, but the Winnipeg Stadium field has been protected by a tarpaulin for the last three days.

The tarp will be pulled up just before the game, coach Bud Grant of the Bombers said Tuesday. "So the field should be in good shape."

Mulling over the forecast, Grant said only: "We hope it doesn't get any worse."

This view is shared by Calgary offensive coach Rogers Lahey, who said before the Stampeders left for Winnipeg Tuesday that "we have to hope for better weather so we can use the wide pitchout and get a man loose around their ends."

"We have to be able to throw, long and short. Mainly though, we have to block better."

A fierce wind in the first game of the best-of-three series

La Calgary Saturday put a damper on the passing attacks of both clubs.

The Bombers stayed on the ground where they rolled up an impressive 270 yards rushing to win the game 14-1 and rule as 13½-point favorites to take the deciding game.

Despite the odds, coach Grant is taking nothing for granted.

In poor late-season playing conditions, he says, "it all comes down to brute strength and control of the ball."

"Frozen fields mean more fumbles too and you might as well realize that playoffs are an entirely new season."

After the Bombers' last workout before the final, Grant announced two changes in the lineup for tonight's game from the team that won the first encounter: with Gar Warren replacing Dave Burkholder at inside linebacker and Ron Meadmore substituting for Jack Bruzell at guard. Grant gave no explanation for the switches.

IN GOOD HEALTH

Otherwise the team will be the same, with Ken Ploen starting at quarterback and Charlie Shepard getting the nod over Roger Hagberg at fullback because of his kicking ability. All of the Bombers were reported in good health.

Calgary, however, was in poor shape.

Head coach Bobby Dobbs says he will play rookie Ed Buchanan in place of halfback Lovell Coleman who pulled a thigh muscle in the first game.

SHUFFLES LINEUP

In addition, Dobbs is expected to shuffle his line to compensate for tackle George Hansen and centre Dale Parsons who are expected to see limited action because of injuries.

Other Stampeders are hurtling in minor ways, including quarterback Eagle Day, who, however, will play.

Despite the raft of injuries Dobbs is optimistic.

"We figure to be in Winnipeg five days," he said looking towards the third game of the final to be played here Saturday at 2 p.m. if Calgary wins tonight.

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

It pays to stalk the wary steelhead, Frank Baker proved this to us on Monday when he led us to our first winter steelhead of the season—a 10½-pound silvery fresh-run doe from Harris Creek.

Actually, we had set out in the pre-dawn hours for a float trip down the San Juan, but at Port Renfrew we learned that Bill Seigler had led his wife, Marion, to her first steelhead, the day before in Harris Creek.

We decided on a quick side trip to have a look at the Mile 11 pool, just at the canyon.

Baker is a true woodsman and just skipped down that hill, jumped over logs and climbed down rocks like a deer. We scrambled as quickly as we could behind him.

We found Baker rigging his tackle at the tree line, some height above the canyon pools. He cautioned us to silence and pointed to the pools. There, in front of us, at the bottom end of the middle pool was a bright steelhead, all by itself, snug against and under a ledge at the far bank.

At the top end of the pool there was another steelhead hanging back behind a big rock, and with him were several coho milling about. In the bottom pool there were half a dozen coho and below that were falls and the kind of water in which it is next to impossible to land a steelie.

We couldn't see into the top pool.

This was a stretch of the river we had surveyed during the summer low water and we knew the problems we would have in landing a fish.

High above the pool, in the shade of the trees we squatted quietly and mapped out our plan of attack, Baker masterminding it in much the same manner as an army commander.

We would get first crack on the lone steelhead, then he would try for the other. We were to try to land the steelie without spooking the other one.

Above all we were to avoid the falls.

Baker led us stealthily down the canyon wall, as much as possible out of sight of the steelhead we were stalking. Half way down we took our position behind a big rock and there we sat for three or four minutes, to let the steelie forget it ever saw us.

Then, we eased up our head a few inches, took our bearing and flicked our salmon rod to the other side of the river, above the steelie. The bait floated down within a couple of feet of the fish, which looked, but changed its mind.

We made as little disturbance as possible and never showed ourselves to the steelie. It took three or four more casts to get the right float, and on the sixth we floated the rod right into his gaping mouth. We had him.

We set the single hook and started to play him.

"Give him slack. Give him slack. For crying out loud give him slack, or he will go over the falls," shouted Baker.

This was foreign to us. We have always subscribed to a taut line, allowing the fish no slack, but never hovering it. But, it was Baker's pool, and he knew what he was doing. We let the line go slack. We gave the steelie lots of slack.

"Now watch it go upstream, away from those falls," said Baker.

He was right. The fish headed upstream just where we wanted it. The line had belied with the current and the drag was on the fish from downstream, so it naturally swam away from it, upstream. If we had continued to fight it, it would have naturally raced downstream against us, and over the falls.

We scrambled down the rocks to a point downstream from the fish.

Whenever it tried to run downstream, we fed out more slack and it headed back upstream. It was a careful fight, more strategy than a mad battle, but it took us better than half an hour to bring that steelhead to the beach on our eight-pound test line. There were at least half a dozen times when it got within three feet of going over the waterfall, but the slack line did the trick every time.

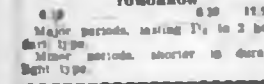

It was as silver as they come and full of eggs... eggs which are now being treated with borax and salt and should start us off on this season's bait.

We weren't so lucky with the other steelie. Either we had spooked it while landing the other fish, or it had been worked over pretty thoroughly the day before by other anglers, probably a little of both. Certainly it knew we were there.

Baker tossed every lure in his kit at it, passing them right in front of its nose, time and again, but it hardly even looked at them. He was a wary one, and he is still there for someone else to try to outwit him.

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Cinderella Jack MacTavish rink from San Francisco, a gambling crew of once-a-week curlers, moved through the first round of the championship event Tuesday night, scoring their sixth straight victory in the Totem bonspiel.

A spectacular shot for a five-ender, then two on the last end gave MacTavish a 13-11 victory over Pat Patterson of Richmond, B.C., in the first round of the 32-rink championship event.

And the victory came little more than four hours after the California curlers, all expatriate Canadians who have been living in San Francisco at least five years, had led the way into the silverware in the primary Totem event, entering the semi-finals.

Fifteen others advanced in the championship event Tuesday night, among them Buzz McGibney of Roseland who scored his seventh straight victory. Sam Gould of Princeton, Mickey Brennan of Trail, Jim Dickson of Victoria and Joe McKinnon of Kamloops.

Dean Hayes of Haney and the heavily-favored Lyall Dagg, Eddie Strandin, Howie Christopher, Ron Hatch, Jack McAllister, Bruce Bennett, Earl Ewert, Trev Fisher and Jim Purves, all of the Vancouver area, were the other first-round winners.

Calgary Withdraws Its Grey Cup Float

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary, the city whose contingent's shenanigans initiated the Grey Cup parade 13 years ago, will not enter a float in this year's parade in Toronto Dec. 2.

W. R. Graves, chairman of the Calgary Grey Cup parade committee, said Tuesday commercialism and the unreasonable demands of the musicians' union in Toronto are the major reasons for Calgary's decision to stay out.

"This parade has reached the point where the parade is highly commercialized," said Mr. Graves.

United After Half Crown

Victoria United has three games left in the first-half Pacific Coast Soccer League schedule, and if the club wins them all it will finish in first place.

This is the situation facing Wally Milligan and friends as they prepare to meet Vancouver Firefighters Saturday at Royal Athletic Park. It came as something of a surprise to United officials, who were under the impression that the league was not being played in halves this season.

IN POSITION

United is now one point behind first-place Columbus and one ahead of Firefighters, who both hold one game in hand. A win Saturday and another the following week-end against New Westminster Royals would leave United in a position to take first place in the final game of the schedule against Columbus in Vancouver even if Columbus wins all its other three games.

First and second-half winners play off for the league championship.

Colonist Cup Soccer One-Night Stand

The Colonist Cup competition for the city high school senior soccer championship has a new format this year—a sudden-death final in a night game under the lights Dec. 6 at Royal Athletic Park.

Decision to switch from the old system of a best-of-three series of afternoon games was made because early darkness has spoiled the competition several times in the last few years.

If the experiment works, it is hoped that next season soccer can step into the "big time" class of school sports, with all league games played in night doubleheaders to attract larger crowds like those now being drawn by the basketball league.

Bruins Play Next Week

Esquimalt Bruins and Nanaimo will meet for the second half of their junior hockey exhibition series next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

The game was originally scheduled for Nanaimo, but there is no ice time available at the up-island centre. The teams played to a 4-4 tie in their first game.

TWO GOOD HANDS GIVE UNITED'S BARRY SADLER BIG EDGE

Sadler United's Gamble That's Really Paid Off

By JIM TAYLOR

Wallace Milligan is not a gambling man by nature, but each time Victoria United plays soccer Milligan takes his stars that he took a chance on a long-shot.

When Milligan was picking the team for Victoria's re-entry into the Pacific Coast Soccer League, he had three goalies from which to choose.

Al Davies, a veteran of coast league play, and Larry De Costa was rated ready for the big step up from the district league. But Milligan had a hunch, and went along with a 19-year-old named Barry Sadler. It was the best move he ever made.

In nine games, Sadler has posted five shutouts and given up but six goals. He, more than any other single player, has lifted the United club into the thick of the fight for first place.

NOT YET

Sadler is not a super-star—yet. He and Milligan both credit much of his success to the work of fullbacks Ron Jenkins, Len Anderson and Harry Carruthers, and from George Wright, Bobby Mara and Hal Holroyd, the league's finest half line.

But the look of future greatness is there to be seen whenever United plays.

"Sadler could be a first-division goalkeeper in England and there's no doubt about it," says Milligan, himself an ex-Scottish professional. "The thing is, he could learn so much over there that he can't learn here. But if he won't, he'd be a star."

PERFECT BUILD

Sadler has the perfect build for a goalkeeper—190 pounds distributed over a 6'2" frame. He is big enough to take punishment in goal-mouth brawls, fast enough to make up for most of his mistakes, and has the finest hands in the league.

He also stars at basketball with Victoria University Vikings, and his rebounding ability is evident in the way he leaps to snare high drives and tip them over the crossbar.

A product of the city's minor soccer program, he has come up through the various divisions and spent two years with Victoria West in the district league before moving up to United.

He first stepped into the limelight in 1959, when he was runner-up for the Soccer Boy award in the B.C. tournament while playing for Victoria Optimists of Division I. Observers there rated him the finest goalkeeper produced in B.C. in years.

NO QUESTION

There was never any question as to whether he would stick in the coast league after his first game. Only twice in nine games has he been a loser, both times to St. Andrews, and always he plays with the calm confidence of a veteran.

"The biggest difference is the positional play up here," he says. "In this league, more of the players you are up against are thinking."

With five shutouts, much of United's "publicity has been focused on Sadler, but it hasn't bothered him or changed his attitude in any way. He dismisses the shutouts simply by saying "I've got a fabulous defence."

WORKS HARD

His coaches expected nothing else. All praise him as a level-headed, dedicated athlete who works on his mistakes and seldom makes the same one twice.

Six goals in nine games is quite a record for any goalie. Ken Pears of Vancouver Firefighters, rated Canada's finest for years, has given up 10 in eight games in the same league. Saturday at Royal Athletic Park, the two test each other, and at the moment Milligan says that if one of them has an edge it would be Pears.

"Ken has the experience, and you can't buy that," he explains. "But Barry can go as far in this game as he chooses."

Softball Format Changed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia softball format has been streamlined for 1962 with senior open and senior closed categories replacing the former A, B and C ratings.

The decision was made by the B.C. Amateur Softball Association after its weekend annual meeting.

The closed division will be confined to teams playing for recreational purposes only.

The open division will embrace all teams pointing to the B.C. championship.

'Blonde' in Racing Scandal

LONDON (AP)—The police were looking Tuesday for an attractive blonde who they suspect is mixed up in a race horse doping syndicate operating in Britain.

The woman, who speaks with a foreign accent, has visited several training stables in Britain recently — visits soon followed by new outbreaks of doping.

Owners Balking At Drug Ruling

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Florida State Racing Commission Tuesday reaffirmed its rule banning the use of the controversial drug, butazolidin, and horsemen threatened not to enter their thoroughbreds for Tropical Park's opening Thursday.

Following a conference with H. O. Simmons, president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, the Police warnings have gone out to all tracks calling for information about the mysterious blonde.

"There have been recent cases of a young woman of attractive appearance giving a foreign name and address. She has visited trainers both in the north and south of England. Should a lady of this description call at your yard please inform Weatherby," said a circular sent to all British trainers.

E. W. Weatherby is secretary of both The Jockey Club, rulers of flat racing in Britain, and the National Hunt Committee, bass of steeplechase and hurdle racing.

One horse doped was Scarborough, who finished last at betting odds of 11-4 on Nov. 6. London's police chemists said Scarborough had been doped about 12 hours before running.

Caca Dora was scratched Monday because she was swaying about and weak before the race. It was suspected she had been doped.

McDougal Suspended

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — James McDougal, 57, a race horse owner and trainer from Vancouver, was suspended and his case referred to the California Horse Racing Commission Tuesday.

A urine sample taken of McDougal's horse Himanna, winner of the sixth race at Tanforan Thursday, was found to be positive, containing the drug amphetamine.

McDougal denied any knowledge of how the drug could have been administered.

Jockey Rides Again Before Season Ends

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Alfonso Coy, suspended indefinitely Sept. 22, was reinstated Tuesday by the Ontario Racing Commission. Coy probably will ride at Old Woodbine Park Thursday, the closing day of the Canadian racing season.

Coy was grounded by the commission when investigation revealed that the jockey had been making wagers with bookmakers. Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, QC, chairman of the commission, made it clear at the time that, as far as the investigators could ascertain, Coy had been betting only on his own mounts.

Coy remained in Toronto throughout the 60 days of his suspension and on several occasions had requested the commission to review his case. Although the commission merely issued a statement to the effect that Coy has been reinstated to good standing, it is assumed he has been reinstated so that he may ride on United States tracks during the winter months.

About Premature Draft

AFL Commissioner Kept in Dark

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It was two weeks before the official date.

The club owners "conducted a poll among themselves in respect to a limited number of players with whom they would have intra-league negotiation rights," was the way commissioner Joe Foss put it. He added that he didn't know it had happened.

Foss pointed out that under league by-laws players cannot be signed before their last college year could become eligible.

Foss said he would not approve the contract of any player eligible for the 1961 draft who was signed prior to Dec. 2.

Foss asserted that the list was compiled by the owners "without the knowledge of myself or my office. I am told that this was done because of my feelings against any sort of player selection prior to the regular draft."

But there was no indication from the AFL that it planned to revoke or change the pre-draft draft.

Thus the AFL will be well ahead of the NFL in obtaining the rights to top college stars. However, this doesn't mean that the AFL will sign them ahead of the NFL. It can draft them, too, and bid for their services.

"We have tried to treat both leagues (the National Football League is the other) as fairly and equally as possible. It is not fair to a college football coach to have his players tampered with until the season is over."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League had previously stated that the premature AFL action would not change the National Football League plans for its official draft Dec. 4.

Rear Looked Like Deer Tale of Shooting Mishap

A Victoria fireman was accidentally shot in the buttocks by his companion while they were hunting deer Sunday morning near Cobble Hill.

Suffering a flesh wound but in "good condition" last night at Duncan hospital was city fireman Stanley Gow, 3000 Hal-four.

He was shot by a bullet from a .20S rifle fired by his friend Lloyd Newton, 501 Tulp, said RCMP. Newton drove the injured man to hospital.

The accident happened about 10 a.m. in thick underbrush beside a seldom used road half-a-mile from the Trans-Canada Highway.

Police said the story told by Newton is that Gow got out of the car and started through the bush in a semi-circle intending to shoot Newton some distance up the road.

Newton drove his car up the road, got out and also started through the bush in a semi-circle which would lead him back to Gow.

About halfway between where Gow got out of the car and where the car was parked the two hunters approached each other as phoned.

Newton told police he saw a deer and fired. He heard his companion shout "I've been hit."

No charge was laid against Newton, and RCMP are still investigating.

Mr. Gow later told police he too had seen a deer in the area prior to the shooting.

D'Arcy Must Obey

Reinstated Teacher
Gets Old Job Back

GEORGEY D'ARCY

Geoffrey C. D'Arcy can return to his industrial arts teaching post at Colquitz Junior High School, but he must follow instructions of the district superintendent of schools.

This was made clear yesterday in a letter from the Greater Victoria school board to the teacher who was fired last June for allegedly failing to stick to the curriculum laid down by the department of education.

BOARD 'RELUCTANT'
The board "reluctantly" agreed to Mr. D'Arcy's reinstatement, ordered by the government on the strength of the findings of a special board which upheld the teacher's appeal against dismissal.

Trustees left administrative arrangements for the teacher's return in the hands of school superintendent John Gough.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS
Mr. Gough said yesterday the teacher was to return to his post at Colquitz Junior High "under special provisions" of the government order.

The superintendent added that Mr. D'Arcy's reinstatement would become effective "only on that basis."

There is nothing new, Mr. Gough pointed out, in the rider attached to the government reinstatement order, requiring Mr. D'Arcy to follow the instructions of the district superintendent.

EFFICIENCY STRESSED
Section 9 (g) of the Public Schools Act says district superintendents must advance and endeavor to maintain standards of tuition and instruction in public schools. "By advising and instructing teachers and principals in all that may tend to promote the efficiency and effectiveness of these schools."

"This has been in existence for years and years," the superintendent said. "Every teacher is subject to it and in this case the council of public

Department of transport has called for tenders for installation of a new flying aid for incoming commercial aircraft at Patricia Bay Airport.

The contract will include clearing of land and construction of one or two buildings at Cloak Hill northwest of the airport.

The installation will cost about $15,000.

When it is completed, a non-directional radio beam will be transmitted from the installation to let pilots know when to drop below 800 feet while approaching during strong southeasterly winds.

The radio equipment will be of a standard type used at other Canadian airports and will be installed by the DoT, he said.

Light Sentence Spares Woman Birth in Prison

An expectant mother charged with robbery with violence was given a light sentence in Saanich court yesterday in order to spare her child the shame of being born in prison.

Laurie Falconer, 22, was charged jointly with her husband Ernest for the $1 robbery of a Vancouver salesman who had offered the couple a ride last Thursday.

Magistrate William Ostler told the attractive brunette: "The fact that you are with child is the only reason I am being lenient with you. . . ."

FOUR MONTHS
"This child has enough strikes against it," he said as he passed sentence of four months on the woman.

Magistrate Ostler said the term would enable the woman to leave the prison to have her baby. He said he was limiting the sentence "in consideration for the child. . . . not for you."

18 MONTHS
Ernest Falconer was sentenced to 18 months for his part in the robbery.

The magistrate said Falconer's record of previous convictions "is an indication of your irresponsible behavior."

WERE DRINKING
He told the pair that the fact they had been drinking prior to the robbery and no actual weapon was used "though the victim was sure he was confronted by a knife" mitigated the circumstances to a degree.

PLEADED GUILTY
The couple pleaded guilty to the charge. Earlier the court was told the couple had planned the robbery because they were two weeks behind in their room rent.

OFFERED LIFT
Det. George Walton said robbery victim Brian Whitworth had offered the pair a lift when he saw the woman apparently having trouble with her male companion on Broad Street at 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

HID WALLET
Mr. Whitworth became suspicious of the couple and managed to hide his wallet under the seat of the car as he drove towards Saanich.

Outside the city, the salesman was told to stop the car. Falconer grabbed him by the throat and pressed something against his neck.

Mr. Whitworth was told it was a knife and it would be used if he tried to struggle.

Dockyard Worker In Race

An electrical draftsman at HMC Dockyard, Peter Francis, 40, of 1347 Sussex, yesterday announced his candidacy for councillor in Esquimalt in the forthcoming municipal elections.

Mr. Francis, who has worked at Dockyard for eight years, was born in London, England. He came to Canada with his family in 1930 and served overseas with the Royal Canadian Artillery during the Second World War.

This will be his second try for a seat on Esquimalt council. He said he drew 600 votes, 70 short of being elected, two years ago.

"I feel the older residents living on fixed incomes should be given some consideration," he said, and if elected he will try to "keep the mill rate down as much as possible."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl, 18, who graduated from a small town high school and came to the city to work. I got a job as a receptionist with a big company where I meet a lot of people—especially salesmen.

Three weeks ago a very attractive guy came in. He seemed awfully refined so I accepted a dinner date with him. He took me to a lovely place and we had a few drinks and danced. He said he was a lover of classical music and asked me if I had any records.

To make a long story short he came to my place. We had some more drinks and he recited poetry and talked about Albert Schweitzer and Zen and things like that. I hate to admit it but I got weak and let my heart rule my head. He promised to phone in a few days to make a date for the weekend. Well, almost three weeks have gone by and I haven't heard from him. I can't believe he was giving me a line. Something terrible must have happened to him. What do you think?—WORRIED

Bride Madelyn McKenzie Wears Heirloom Brooch

Bronze, yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated St. Andrew's Anglican church in Sidney for the wedding of Madelyn Carol McKenzie and

Mr. William Charles Atkinson on Saturday evening. Rev. F. C. Vaughan-Birch officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie, Vancouver, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Atkinson, Victoria.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of French satin brocaded in lily of the valley pattern. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a rhinestone tiara and she carried red roses and white carnations. Her jewelry was a sunburst pearl brooch worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Sadie R. Dahl, on her wedding 50 years ago and a double strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Mr. T. P. Chappell walked to the altar with his niece.

Miss Marjorie S. McKenzie, twin sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a sheath dress of French blue crystal charm taffeta, cocktail length. Margaret Jane McKenzie, younger sister of the bride, wore a full skirted gown of the same material. Both attendants had bandeaux of shaded blue velvet flowers and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Their aurore be- reils necklaces and earrings were gifts from the groom.

Mr. Brent Orrick was best man and Mr. Richard P. Chappell and Mr. Ken Wallis acted as ushers.

A reception was held at the K of P Hall in Sidney. The bride's table was centred with a three tiered cake and set with heirloom china belonging to the bride's maternal great-grandmother.

For a honeymoon in Wash- ington and B.C. the new Mrs. Atkinson travelled in a beige wool sheath dress, brown leather hat and brown fur jacket with brown alligator accessories.

They will make their home in Victoria.

Party Puffs

A tempting topper turns rounds of toast or crackers into tasty tidbits for the canape tray. Beat one egg white until stiff but not dry; then fold in a quarter of a cup of mayonnaise, a couple of teaspoons of minced onion or a dash of onion juice, a little Worcestershire sauce and a cup of drained canned salmon. Lightly pile onto hot toast rounds or similar canape base and broil a few minutes until bubbly and lightly browned. Serve hot.

Dance Highland Fling At Wedding Reception

The first wedding to be solemnized in Gordon Head United Church, Saturday evening united in marriage Phyllis Irma Hopkins and Mr. William Leonard Wansbrough.

Rev. M. Alexander officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hopkins, Torquay Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Wansbrough, Holland Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, was striking in French satin brocade in a gown design, the floor-length gown being fashioned with fifty-point sleeves and jewel neckline. A veil fell from a white crown of orange blossom, and she carried a bible covered in lace and a bouquet of pink roses and white chrysanthemums.

Four attendants followed Miss Hopkins down the aisle. Miss Maye Lum, Miss Marion Dempster, Miss Margaret Hopkins, and small flower girl, Miss Karen Keller. Senior attendants chose identical dresses in pink peau de soie faille with hooped skirts, white velvet cummerbunds and headpieces of white velvet. They carried colonial bouquets of white chrysanthemums centred with pink roses.

Mr. Edmund Keller was groomsmen and ushers were Mr. Hugh Murray and Mr. Tom Hopkins.

At the wedding reception given in the Gordon Head Community Hall, Miss Hilary Gallagher and Miss Patricia McDowell danced the Highland Fling.

For a honeymoon in the Northwest United States the new Mrs. Wansbrough changed into a Liberty print dress in bronze with bronze hat, winter-white mohair coat. On returning from the U.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Wansbrough will take up residence at 976 Cloverdale Avenue.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. P. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. V. Marco, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Payne, Mrs. Fred Collins, Mrs. William Baker, Mr. F. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. R. McDowell with Patricia, Colleen, Russell from Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Graves of Courtenay.

Nurses Hear Missionary

Dr. Jack Hay, 14 years a missionary in Africa, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Greater Victoria District Registered Nurses Association of B.C.

Dr. Hay, with his wife and family travelled extensively over South Africa. For 12 years, he worked in the 100,000 square Kalahari Desert in Bechuanaland with the primitive, nomadic Bushman race.

This area has little surface water, is difficult to traverse because there are no landmarks, but much game is evident and killed for food. The people are disease-ridden with leprosy, tropical diseases, catarracts, and hypertension, but coronary heart disease and cancer of the breast are unknown. Due to superstitions, witchcraft and tribal customs, practising medicine was difficult because the people would not present themselves early in disease, he said.

From a very small beginning, the hospital has grown in stature and personnel with its own training school, Dr. Hay concluded his address with a film about the Bushman.

Raise $400

Women's Auxiliary of St. Philip's Church, held their annual tea and bazaar at which a total of $400 was realized. The affair was opened by the Rev. R. O. Wilkes.

The church hall was decorated in the WA colors of rose and blue. Similar mobile churches and balloons were suspended from small trees designating the various stalls. Co-conveners were Mrs. C. Usher, Mrs. H. Campbell. Conveners of the stalls were: Mrs. J. Smithson, Mrs. R. Dalby, Mrs. H. Campbell, Mrs. E. Paver, Mrs. T. Kay, Mrs. E. Gill, Mrs. G. Paul, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. J. W. Loader, Mrs. J. S. Allin, Mrs. E. Blades, Mrs. R. O. Wilkes, Mrs. W. Welland, Mrs. R. Rowbotham, Mrs. R. Graves, Mrs. J. S. Allin and Mrs. T. Kay.

DENTAL ASSISTANTS

Dr. W. W. McLuhan was guest speaker at the November meeting of the Victoria Dental Assistants' Association. He showed films of his recent trip to Europe.

IS ONE FACE CREAM "JUST AS GOOD" AS ANOTHER?

True, lots of creams are similar in doing a surface job only. But if your need is for a treatment cream that will effectively halt early-aging signs such as crow's feet, little lines, flakiness, then POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM is the answer. This face cream, now with Allantoin, goes to work in just 10 minutes to repair a robbed of natural moisture. Allantoin: Soaks off lifeless surface skin cells... speeds penetration of Pond's rich moisturizing lanolin to thirsty tissues far below. Almost overnight, skin dried out by harsh weather, indoor heat, low-fat diets, regains its softness, smoothness... looks young again! Use POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM regularly. In jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold. Advt.

Ageing in Oak Casks Makes Seagram's Gin Extra Dry

Aged to the golden moment of perfect in in selected oak casks, here is a rare gin endowed with extra dryness, extra smoothness. For a cool, refreshing extra dry martini, gin and tonic, Tom Collins and gin rickey, next time ask for Seagram's Gin.

I.Q. Tests

Women Fail More Often

NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest British import: a society that caters to eggheads and uses a yellow pinhead as its emblem.

Women are tolerated in the intellectual society — provided they can prove they have a high I.Q. The minimum acceptable is equivalent to approximately 136 on the most popular I.Q. test used for adult testing in the United States. Males must meet the same qualifications.

Mensa, as the international society is called, already has units in New York and Boston. A branch is taking root in San Francisco.

Members claim Mensa's affairs — forums and seminars — do for the mind what touch football does for the body. Victor Serebriakoff, of London, said all of this — and more — in an interview. The honorary secretary of the society, a factory manager, was in New York to look in on Mensa meetings in America.

Mensa is Latin for table. And the Mensa Society wants to be known as a Round Table Society where no one has precedence.

"Many intelligent people — and that includes women — are cut off by circumstances from the contact with other good minds which is so important to them, yet so elusive in contemporary society."

The British cousin with a bushy red beard said 2,000 have qualified for membership, included are several hundred Americans. About one-third of the members are female.

"Females who apply fail to meet the I.Q. requisite more frequently than do male applicants," Serebriakoff said.

TV TALK

At one time or another almost everyone has dreamed of a vacation in the West Indies, taken a quick look at the handbook, and settled for a visit to Vancouver.

"Can I get one, Mommy?"

He says "I'm ONLY $99.95!"

Tonight at 6.30, you can make that trip to the islands second-hand, via Channel 7's "North-West Traveller," which presents some excellent films made on the trip.

Viewers will visit Jamaica, Barbados and Pith Lake in Trinidad, and watch natives perform in their famous steel drum bands and do the limbo and calypso dances.

Highlights

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I am sometimes asked by enthusiastic readers, anxious to get the best from their vegetable plots, which is the best variety of Brussels sprout to grow on Vancouver Island. I find such questions a bit embarrassing to answer, for my vegetable patch is too small for more than just a mere dabbling in experimentation. It would be a waste of space to state baldly that any particular variety is "best" on the basis of my limited experience, and the only thing I can do is report on how the few kinds tested performed on my plot and whether the flavor pleased my family.

Most of the sprout seed from Canadian and U.S. sources has been disappointing—the British and the Danes seem to understand the various members of the cabbage family better than Americans. Some produced loose, blown buttons, and some had great gaps on the stem unfurnished with any sprouts.

Until last year, the best I had run into was an English variety called Fillbasket, which always gave me a heavy crop of large, firm buttons—just a little large for my taste, but the flavor was quite good.

Last year, after reading an account in a technical journal, I was seduced into sending away for seeds of a new Japanese variety called Jade Cross, and I think I have hit the jackpot. Poor old Fillbasket isn't getting much of a play, for my family has gone completely overboard on the flavor and texture of Jade Cross.

Jade Cross is a first-generation hybrid—the parentage seems to be a deep, dark, Japanese secret—and the plants exhibit all the vigor we have come to expect from F-1 plants.

They make plants about 22 inches tall with a stem packed in tight rows with hard, firm sprouts, smaller than Fillbasket—just a nice, bite-size rosette—and of a darker blue-green color. We don't have a deep freezer but these look to me as if they would be the ideal sprout for freezing.

Incidentally, if you haven't staked your sprouts yet, it is high time some kind of support was given them. Staking doesn't have to be as careful or as elaborate as for, say, dahlias, but it is bad business to allow the plants to be rocked in the wind. Such rocking forms a tapered, cone-shaped hole in the soil around the stem and, when this fills up with water, only a light touch of frost is necessary to crush the stem at its most vulnerable point. In addition to light staking or a wire support stretched behind the plants, an earthing-up on both sides of the row will guard against this trouble.

Never twist off the sprouts by hand, but cut them cleanly with a knife, making the cut close to the button so as to leave a stub of stem still on the plant. Any leaves growing below the harvested sprout should be taken off at the same time and shouldn't be thrown carelessly on the ground but picked up and transferred to the compost heap, for decomposing sprout leaves smell horrible and could taint the nearby crop.

Picking should be done systematically, taking only a few of the lower sprouts from each stem and spreading your picking over the whole patch rather than stripping any one stem. Even if the lowest sprouts are dirty, mud-splashed or "blown," take them off anyway, for their removal will help the buttons higher up to develop properly. Don't be tempted to cut off the topknot of leaves, no matter what any old-time gardener may tell you, for this provides valuable winter protection for the developing sprouts below.

Red Rift Extends to Cuba

The great fissure in Communist ranks between Red China and the Soviet Union may very well have invaded and split the high brass in the Cuban revolution too. There are some indications that Fidel Castro and Che Guevara, his Communist mentor and brain, have split sharply—Fidel following the Soviet line, Guevara, the tougher Red Chinese line.

Guevara, the charm boy of the Cuban revolution and the fellow who led Fidel into the Communist camp, is apparently being downgraded in the Cuban hierarchy. He is not prominently mentioned in Fidel's recent speeches at all and when he is, he is only referred to as being in charge of Cuban industry, not of the whole Cuban economy. Guevara himself has been quite critical of the Cuban economy, which is getting into increasingly desperate shape. Since Guevara is supposed to be in charge of the very economy whose shortcomings he is criticizing, this is a little like a mayor running against his own record. However, there's some doubt about whether you can get away with this quite as readily in a Communist dictatorship as under a democracy.

Ideologically, Guevara heads a group of Cuban revolutionaries who feel a greater sympathy towards Red Chinese revolutionaries than towards the Soviet variety for a number of reasons. For one, they're the same age. The Soviets are an older, stuffer crowd. For another, their bellicosity is about on the same level, which is to say much higher than Russia's. For still another, Red China and Cuba share many of the same agricultural problems and an equal inability to handle them.

Castro has sided with the Soviet crowd, which is putting a higher priority on industrialization than on agriculture. In any case, the Russian crowd is very much in the saddle. The old line Cominform boys are running the show, headed by Blas Roca, secretary-general of the Cuban Communist party and Dr. Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, editor of "Hoy," the Communist paper in Havana.

In fact, there is some indication that Castro himself is being downgraded (lovely Communist word) in this professionalization of the Cuban revolution. For some time, Castro was the Cuban revolution. Without him, the revolution would have gone out the window. Not any more. Even without Castro now—for whatever reasons—it would be difficult to reverse the tide or unseat the professionals who are running things.

Chief among these is Blas Roca. Roca went to the 22nd Party Congress in Moscow along with the president of Cuba, Osvaldo Dorticos, but it is significant that Khrushchev saw Blas Roca twice before he saw the president of Cuba. During the great parade, which is the biggest ceremonial event of the congress, Roca was in the reviewing stand only a few feet away from Khrushchev while the president of Cuba was just part of the audience.

Castro has some other more personal reasons for pushing Che Guevara into the background. Guevara is the only other revolutionary in Cuba besides Castro with a popular following, with a limelight of his own. The most dedicated Marxist in Cuba, Guevara isn't even a Cuban and some of his ideas are a little extreme for the Cubans and even for the Kremlin. Guevara was behind such quaint un-Cuban ideas as taking the children away from their parents in the communes, for invading Brazil with Cuban revolutionaries.

The competition between the Red Chinese variety and the Kremlin variety of communism extends all the way through South America in varying degrees of intensity. The Red Chinese are bringing quite large numbers of both Chinese students and Chinese faculty members into Latin America, all of whom have been fully indoctrinated in China. The Kremlin is retaliating by sending in Russians, Czech, and Polish students.

The spread of communism in South America is, of course, always a threat, but the divisiveness between Red Chinese communism and the Kremlin brand may eventually prove quite more useful to our side.

But, in a broad sense, we are going to have to rearrange our thinking about traditional friendships and traditional hostilities. For while the Russians and the Chinese grow increasingly competitive toward one another in Asia, South America, and Africa, the United States is threatened with increasing and formidable competition with its own allies in the Common Market. The two great power blocs once united in hostility towards the other are now splitting into two wings fighting or—if that's too strong a word—contending with each other.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

Too Cold for Maugham!

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — I wasn't surprised when 87-year-old Somerset Maugham fled from the cold of an English winter to return to his villa in the warm south of France. The famed author had wanted to spend his remaining years in his native land. He'd forgotten about the winters, it seems.

Peter Ustinov will direct himself in "The Losers," which he wrote as a best seller, then turned into a play. Peter ought to shed some weight, but he doesn't, with all the work he does.

They were disappointed in London when Lana Turner could not come from Hollywood to attend the premiere of her "Bachelor in Paradise" movie with Bob Hope. But Lana did not want to leave her new paradise with husband Fred May. Or daughter Cheryl.

The Laurence Oliviers are hoping their new home in Brighton will be ready before the stork comes calling on Lady Olivier. The baby is due in about a week. A few months ago, Sir Laurence was afraid his lady, the former Joan Plowright, would lose the baby. But everything seems fine now.

Darryl Zanuck says he can't understand all the fuss about the use of troops in "The Longest Day." He says he went to great expense and inconvenience to shoot with troops only when they were on regularly scheduled manoeuvres. It would be nice if this were the only type of battle we were threatened with.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, by the way, threatens to go to Africa for some big-game hunting. The two-legged-kind?

Robert Ryan's next film "Sahbi" features a hunter, a boy and an elephant. Ryan will co-produce and will go all the way to Pakistan to make it. He owns a beautiful house in Hollywood but, like most stars today, rarely gets to live at home.

Most stars forget the encouragement given them by the press in the early days of their careers. But not Peter Falk, who I still say should have won the Oscar last April for his "Murder Inc." Whenever Peter talks of his start in films he always mentions "Sheilah Graham said one day I will be a big star."

Former TV star Ralph Taeger looks a lot like President John Kennedy, and is hoping Warners will give him the movie role when they make the feature film on the president's service as a boat commander in the Pacific war area during the Second World War.

The big problem of turning Pier Angeli into a pillar of salt as Lot's wife in "Sodom and Gomorrah" has been solved. It will be done with a slow-motion camera, which makes it all the more horrifying. The end of the wicked cities will be done via small-scale models in London. Saves money this way.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as: "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of over 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Caroline's Party Hush-Hush Affair

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A hush-hush birthday party was held in the White House Tuesday for Caroline Kennedy, four years old next Monday, and John Jr., born a year ago next Saturday.

The ground floor was closed and party details were kept secret, although breathless rumors talked of cartoons and cake. Mrs. Kennedy, recovered from her fall from a horse, presided.

Names in the News

Neat Old Lady Filed Millions Alphabetically

NEW YORK—The late Mrs. Katherine Benedict, grandmother of runaway heiress Gamble Benedict Foranhouse, apparently was a neat old lady.

State tax agents denied a report they found $1,000,000 in valuables under beds, behind the kitchen sink and strewn all over the house.

Instead, they found $68,000 in cash stacked in a wall safe and "several million dollars" in securities filed neatly and alphabetically in a steel cabinet.

WASHINGTON—James Cash says he was fired as U.S. federal housing deputy commissioner because he lost $7,000 last year in a blackjack game at a builders' convention.

More Snow Today?

This may happen again today. Heavy equipment clears Malahat, buried under inches of snow that soon melted in Tuesday's rain. Snow closed Shawnigan cut-off for time and led RCMP to restrict Malahat travel to cars with snow tires or chains. Weather office last night predicted snow showers for high spots again overnight. — (Ryan Bros. photo.)

'Shrunken Head Demand Created by Rockefeller'

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UPI) — Dutch officials warned Michael Rockefeller to stop seeking headhunter trophies because he was "creating a demand which could not be met without bloodshed," a Dutch official said here.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, deputy governor-general of Dutch New Guinea, now in Holland on a visit, said he was well acquainted with the 23-year-old son of the governor of New York.

"He was going after headhunter relics along the coast live

'Trade Boom Caused'

"Michael's presence there led to a tremendous increase in local trade, especially in beautifully carved and painted human heads."

"A few weeks ago it was reported to me that members of the headhunter tribe approached the area administrator for permission to go headhunting 'for one evening only, please, sir.'"

"This was because Michael was offering 10 steel hatchets for one head. We had to warn

Governor Joins Search

BIAK, New Guinea (UPI) — Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York arrived by chartered jet plane yesterday at this northern New Guinea island some 300 miles from the spot where his 23-year-old son Michael disappeared last week.

With hope dimming that Michael would be found alive, Rockefeller met immediately with Dutch government officials for latest word.

There was hope that Michael had reached shore after leaving a companion aboard their native-style boat. But the shore line was a swamp infested by snakes and crocodiles.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, New Guinea deputy governor general, said in Holland, it "would be a miracle if Rockefeller is found alive."

KENNEDY POISED FOR POWER PLAY

May Act as Mediator Between B.C., Ottawa

By TERRY HAMMOND

In a situation unprecedented in Canada-U.S. diplomatic relations, President John Kennedy seems set to cast himself in the role of intermediary in the bitter B.C.-Ottawa Columbia power feud.

Dispatches from the United States capital and from Ottawa yesterday coincided with the Colonist's exclusive report on the controversial Seattle meeting last Thursday of President Kennedy and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

From information elicited from senior U.S. power authorities and other sources the Colonist said Premier Bennett had said President Kennedy and his power advisers on the B.C. plan for Columbia River development and in return would get White House help in persuading Ottawa to do an about-face on its power export ban.

In a bylined report yesterday, well-known Canadian Press Washington correspondent Harold Morrison stated that the U.S. state department next week will weigh the advisability of President Kennedy inviting Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to Washington for a meeting on the Columbia.

Morrison quoted well-informed sources as stating that the whole matter is of extreme sensitivity because President Kennedy does not want to seem to be interfering in Canada's domestic affairs.

But although informants

said the U.S. president had nothing to do with planning the talks with Premier Bennett they admitted Kennedy requested and was given a great deal of background information on the Columbia River controversy before he left for Seattle where the talks took place.

The meeting between the president and the premier was "engineered," they said, by Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington State.

A-Ban Talks Agreed

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union yesterday accepted a U.S.-British invitation to resume negotiations for a nuclear test ban under terms that left little hope for agreement.

Soviet foreign ministry notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies said the Russians had agreed to resume the three-power talks in Geneva on Nov. 28—the date proposed by Washington and London in a note of Nov. 13.

CONDITIONS POSED

But the Soviets posed two conditions that foreign observers said could paralyze the new round of the test ban conference almost from the start.

One condition was that the Russians reserved the right to test nuclear weapons if "any power" does so while the talks are in progress.

FINAL GOAL

The second Soviet condition appeared to be that the United States and Britain commit themselves in advance to the Soviet position that general and complete disarmament be the final goal of the Geneva talks.

Nothing in the note indicated the Soviets are ready to abandon their insistence on a three-man "troika" directorship of a test ban control agency.

'Smart Move If Canada Backed U.K.'

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's basic attitude should be one of support for Britain's negotiations to join the six-nation European Common Market, the largest national farm group said Tuesday.

Dangers exist from the market itself and from Britain's possible entry, president H. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture told the federal-provincial agricultural conference.

But the smart move appears to be to assist such a development, Dr. Hannam said in a submission reflecting the stand of one of the elements of the economy most vulnerable to trade disruption.

U.K., Malaya In Agreement

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and Malaya were reported Tuesday to have reached a virtual agreement in talks on the creation of a "greater Malaysia" comprising Malaya and Singapore and the British territories of North Borneo, Brunei and Sarawak.

500 Fund Off to Fine Start

Though The Daily Colonist's 500 Christmas Fund for 1961 is less than three days old, the people of Victoria have responded more rapidly than ever before with help for their less fortunate neighbors.

Total last night stood at $1,119.88 with more cheques appearing in every mail.

Along with his family's annual cheque for $25 came Mayor Percy Scurrah's best wishes for the most successful fund drive ever.

"The 500 Fund provides a worthwhile community service," he said. "It fills a real need in the community and I urge everyone who can to contribute."

To what use is 500 Fund money put after collections end just before Christmas?

The total is divided by 500 and a cheque for the amount sent to each of the 500 families in the Greater Victoria area who need it the most.

In the sense that no strings are attached to expenditure of the money, the 500 Fund seeks to bypass ordinary charity. Instead, it may be considered a Christmas gift from those who have a little extra to those who have nothing to spare at all.

Uses for the money are as many as there are individual needs. A 500 Fund cheque arriving two or three days before Christmas can mean a toy for a child, food for the family, warm clothing for an invalid—even a little fun in an otherwise bleak existence.

Donors are asked to specify whether or not they wish to remain anonymous since lists of donations will be published regularly. Receipts for income tax purposes will be supplied on request.

Donations for the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund may be mailed or delivered to The Daily Colonist at 2631 Douglas.

Here is the list of donations received to date:

Donor	Amount
Donated prior to last opening	$675.00
Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scurrah	25.00
Patricia Macpherson Limited	50.00
Victoria Firemen's Mutual Society	25.00

Letters to the Editor

Credit to Firemen

As a new resident to Victoria, I would like, if possible, through the medium of your paper to thank the boys of the Oak Bay fire department for their help in an emergency last Friday night.

My wife had a heart attack and not knowing who to call, called the fire department emergency for a doctor. Within minutes they were here with oxygen and rushed her to hospital.

The way the two gentlemen took over and the efficient way in which they worked is a credit not only to the two men, but to the department as a whole.

ARCHIE R. WOOD.

Misinformed

I wish to draw your attention to an error in the letterpress which appears under my photograph on page 23 of your Nov. 19 edition.

It is made to appear that I conducted a world affairs class at Victoria University. The fact is I acted as leader of a home study group in connection with Victoria College night classes.

I am no longer a member of the Local Council of Women although, for some years, I was.

Mr. Fleming, who returned late Monday from talks in Europe and London, said Canada "couldn't join the Common Market even if she wanted to."

Mr. Fleming indicated he saw no conflict between his statement and recent speeches by Trade Minister Hees—including one yesterday in Toronto—concerning studies being made on the effect of Canadian membership in the Common Market.

Mr. Hees said when the studies are completed "we will know whether joining the Common Market would be a net gain or a loss in production and employment for Canada as a whole."

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Hees was referring to the broader question of Canadian trade relations with the Common Market.

Mr. Matthews, an economist with the National Industrial Conference Board in Montreal, examined the pros and cons of an economic association with the United States, and said Canada should examine its feasibility in detail.

Carl Bergthson, general manager of the Canadian Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, suggested the newly-formed Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development offers the best solution to the Canadian dilemma.

MONTREAL (CP)—Three differing courses were suggested yesterday so that Canada may avoid becoming a wallflower in the current international trading "twist."

The suggestions came from speakers at yesterday's sessions of the annual conference of the Canadian Tax Foundation.

Kunayev referred to "serious breakdowns and short-comings" in the virgin lands of Soviet Asia and said that grain production had decreased.

Indians Advised to Beware Infiltration of Brotherhood

ALERT BAY (CP)—Immigration Minister Fairclough told the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia last night to guard against infiltration of the Indian organization by persons who might attempt to use the brotherhood for their own purposes.

She made the statement at the annual convention of the brotherhood but did not give any details of attempts by non-Indian bodies to infiltrate the brotherhood.

However, it is understood she was referring to representations made in the past to allow whites into the all-Indian confederation.

Industry 'Killed'

Union, Management Denounced

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Manitoba government report, made public after conviction of two Toronto businessmen on charges arising from the tangled affairs of a Brandon meat-packing firm, has denounced both union and management for having "done their best to destroy an important Manitoba industry."

The report of Mr. Justice G. E. Tritschler of the Manitoba Court of Appeal after an inquiry into a strike at Brandon Packers for six months in 1960, had been withheld pending a verdict in the trial of Hugh Paton and Hubert Cox, former principal owners.

Paton, 42, and Cox, 47, were convicted Monday night and sentenced by Mr. Justice A. M. Monnin to seven-year prison terms.

They were arrested last Jan. 12 after an investigation touched off by the inquiry.

The report was emphatic in blaming both labor leaders and management for the strike and its aftermath. It contended the strike should not have taken place.

Recommendations include changing labor laws to make both unions and management groups legal entities and to provide for supervised strike votes where necessary. Others are prohibition of secondary boycotts and tight control of picketing, including restricting it to the plant actually undergoing a strike.

And the Manitoba labor board should have wider powers where strikers are replaced by non-strikers.

All these factors were involved in the Brandon strike, called over wage differentials by Local 255 of the United Packinghouse Workers Feb. 28 last year.

The strike was settled by an agreement which the report claims was no better than the company's last pre-strike offer.

The report found "shocking behavior of management" (Paton and Cox) and "shabby performance of the union and several labor organizations."

"Paton and Cox were guilty of conduct which deserves to be condemned in the strongest terms. These greedy men milked and left a gravely wounded industry which can be restored only by new capital of which presently there is no prospect."

"The hostility of professional labor leaders to all organized society outside the labor movement is frightening. They stir up and foster in a completely irresponsible manner class hatreds and a contempt for the law, both civil and criminal."

Fire Levels Plant Town Needs Help

GRAND RIVIERE, Que. (UPI)—Mayor Berlin Lauzier last night declared this Gaspé South community a disaster area after a fire completely levelled a $1,000,000 cold storage and ice manufacturing plant and thousands of tons of winter provisions.

The fire at Les Entrepreneurs Frigorifiques, a provincial government agency, which began about 4 a.m. EDT, was believed caused by a short circuit.

The plant—which serves as a storehouse for vegetables, meat, and other foods—was completely levelled by the blaze. Firemen vainly battled the flames for nearly 12 hours. Only burning debris was left of the once prosperous enterprise.

"The population now finds itself in a desperate situation, and I hope the proper authorities will give us all the help we need," said Mayor Lauzier.

Rear Looked Like Deer Tale of Shooting Mishap

A Victoria fireman was accidentally shot in the buttocks by his companion while they were hunting deer Sunday morning near Cobble Hill.

Suffering a flesh wound but in "good condition" last night at Dunsmuir hospital was city fireman Stanley Gow, 3094 Balfour.

He was shot by a bullet from a .303 rifle fired by his friend Lloyd Newton, 581 Tully, said RCMP. Newton drove the injured man to hospital.

The accident happened about 10 a.m. in thick underbrush beside a seldom used road half-mile from the Trans-Canada Highway.

Police said the story told by Newton is that Gow got out of the car and started through the brush in a semi-circle intending to meet Newton some distance up the road.

Newton drove his car up the road, got out and also started through the brush in a semi-circle which would lead him back to Gow.

About halfway between where Gow got out of the car and where the car was parked the two hunters approached each other as planned.

Newton told police he saw a deer and fired. He heard his companion shout "I've been hit."

No charge was laid against Newton, and RCMP are still investigating.

Mr. Gow later told police he too had seen a deer in the area prior to the shooting.

Merchants Win Courtenay Fight

Around the Island—See Also Page 22

COURTENAY — Retail merchants have won out over chain store operators in Courtenay in a bitter fight over shopping hours on the days preceding Christmas.

Courtenay city council Monday rescinded an earlier decision to allow merchants to stay open until 9 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 30 in favor of a Retailers' Association demand that the time be cut to 5:30.

During the heated debate preceding council's change of heart, Mayor Bill Moore threatened to make no decision and leave hours up to the merchants.

The retailers said the wide-open system would result in chaos.

ALBERNI — Work is expected to begin shortly on extension of water mains in the Cherry Creek waterworks area, the Improvement District Board announced this week.

A letter read to Alberni council this week emphasized selection of girls will not be a beauty contest, but a pleasing appearance will be one of the requirements. A general knowledge of B.C. and a thorough knowledge of Vancouver Island plus high school or university education also are required.

Applicants should be between the ages of 25 and 40 years, single or widowed.

ALBERNI — A well-known old-time resident of Alberni, George Chapman Roff, 82, died Saturday in West Coast General Hospital. Funeral service was held yesterday.

Born in Bedford, England, Mr. Roff came to this district 59 years ago. He was a provincial civil servant and was in charge of the government office in Alberni. He retired in 1940.

DUNCAN — Cowichan Farmers' Association is spearheading a drive for a second dairy herd improvement route in the district. Members of the group feel that the already established dairy cow recording service, including 24 herds, is not sufficient for the steadily increasing demand from other operators who request this service in order to improve their milk production.

One of Vancouver Island's best known farms has scored a notable success at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto.

Arrowsmith Farms of Qualicum won three firsts and one second for its turkeys at the famed Toronto exhibition.

The firsts were in the frozen eviscerated class. First prizes were won for a hen over 16 pounds; for a box of four hens over 16 pounds each, and a box of two toms over 22 pounds each.

A second prize was won for a tom over 22 pounds.

NANAIMO — A Ladymith herring fisherman, Gerry Rice, was fined $100 in police court after pleading guilty to impaired driving.

Snow Halts Loggers

COWICHAN VALLEY — Heavy snowfall has hampered logging operations here. Officials from various firms expressed hope yesterday the interruption will be only temporary.

Lake Cowichan had only one inch of snow, but Hillcrest reported eight inches of fresh snow in the surrounding mountains and a fall of eight inches.

ALBERNI — Residents of Cherry Creek district will vote December 5 on a question of providing the area with a fire department.

Trustees of the rural waterworks district have proposed the expenditure of $41,000 for construction and equipment. Plans are for a modern two-bay firehall and office to be located on property owned by the Improvement District of Cherry Creek Road opposite the community hall.

Equipment will include a 1961-model fire truck, fully equipped, and fire hydrants will be installed to service all parts of the district covered by the water system. In addition a portable pump and hose will be carried for use in fighting fire in fringe areas.

PENDEE ISLAND — The Bellingham Christmas Ship will call at U.S. and Canadian Gulf Islands Dec. 16 and 17, spreading goodwill across the island-dotted waters adjacent to the international boundary.

Sponsored by the Bellingham Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Christmas ship Santa Claus will pass out treats to every child greeting the vessel in each port. Bellingham sea scouts will man the vessel.

UCLUELET — Annual fall bazaar and tea of the women's auxiliary to St. Aidan's Anglican Church will be held in the UAC Hall Saturday.

Coroner Chosen

UCLUELET — Magistrate Joseph Webb of Ucluelet now is coroner for Tofino, Ucluelet and the surrounding districts.

He fills the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Thomas Gibson of Tofino, coroner since 1958.

Beavor-Potts asked to endorse the man's license. Rice said he didn't have any.

He was ruled off the roads for three months.

Piles Up

First piles for new $265,000 Saanich police-fire headquarters building are being poured into site at Vernon and Douglas. Property on Swan Lake, in background, was acquired for civic centre. Next building to go on it is $135,000 health and welfare centre, with new municipal hall a strong possibility for future. — (Colonist photo.)

Nina Plans Christmas At Home

Victoria's Miss Canada, Nina Holden, will return here Dec. 19 to be with her family at Christmas.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce is planning "an unprecedented welcome" at Patricia Bay Airport when her flight arrives at 1:30 p.m. that day.

Nina Holden was named Miss Victoria during last May's Jaycee Exhibition. She later became runner-up.

Bring Friend Old Urged

Members are being urged to bring a friend to the regular monthly meeting of Old-Age Pensioners' Organization, Saanich Branch 55, to be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in St. Mark's parish hall.

Talk on Healing

An address on "Radiation Science and Healing" will be given by Mrs. Nora Davy of Vancouver at the Bonnet Lodge Room, 502 Government, at 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

Two-Man History

Spanning 41 years of development in engineering field in B.C. are memberships in Association of Professional Engineers held by Angus J. Cameron, 6160 Pat Bay Highway, left, and W. P. Johnson, Brentwood Bay. Mr. Cameron, 81, charter life member, holds membership No. 420, and Mr. Johnson, who received his card at Holyrood House last night, holds No. 4,000. — (Colonist photo.)

Light Sentence Spare Woman Of Prison Birth

An expectant mother charged with robbery with violence was given a light sentence in Saanich court yesterday in order to spare her child the shame of being born in prison.

Laurie Falconer, 22, was charged jointly with her husband Ernest for the $1 robbery of a Vancouver salesman who had offered the couple a ride last Thursday.

Magistrate William Ostler told the attractive brunette: "The fact that you are with child is the only reason I am being lenient with you."

FOUR MONTHS "This child has enough strikes against it," he said as he passed sentence of four months on the woman.

Magistrate Ostler said the term would enable the woman to leave the prison to have her baby. He said he was lenient because "in consideration of the child ... not for you."

15 MONTHS Ernest Falconer was sentenced to 15 months for his part in the robbery.

The magistrate said Falconer's record of previous convictions "is an indication of your irresponsible behavior."

WERE DRINKING He told the pair that the fact they had been drinking prior to the robbery and using actual weapons was "though the victim was sure he was confronted by a knife mitigated the circumstances to a degree."

PLEADED GUILTY The couple pleaded guilty to the charge. Earlier the court was told the couple had planned the robbery because they were two weeks behind in their room rent.

OFFERED LIFT Det. George Welton said robbery victim Brian Whitworth had offered the pair a lift when he saw the woman apparently having trouble with her male companion on Broad Street at 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

HID WALLET Mr. Whitworth became suspicious of the couple and managed to hide his wallet under the seat of the car as he drove towards Saanich.

Outside the city, the salesman was told to stop the car. Falconer grabbed him by the throat and pressed something against his neck.

Mr. Whitworth was told it was a knife and it would be used if he tried to struggle.

SEARCHED POCKETS Mrs. Falconer searched his pockets and took a dollar.

The car was driven back towards the city and the salesman was released at a dark section of Admirals Road. The couple drove off in the car which was later found parked on Blanshard near View Street.

McLean Joins Race 'Smear Tactics' Anger Mooney

Smear tactics and dirty politics have entered Victoria's civic election, Ald. Millard Mooney—a possible mayoralty candidate—charged last night.

"It is a smear of the lowest type," he said angrily, referring to small stamped cards found on the floor just inside the main door of City Hall yesterday.

FOUR SPELLING Crudely stamped in dark blue ink and crudely spelled, the cards read:

"ALD MOONEY BUSINESS MEN'S PUFFETT."

"Somebody is trying to influence the people," Ald. Mooney said. "They may be afraid."

NO DICTATION "I will not be dictated to by big business or a combine — and if rumors are true, there is most definitely a combine at work, promoting a civic slate."

Ald. Mooney has announced he is considering entering the mayoralty fight but to last night he had not made up his mind whether to run.

His two-year term as an alderman expires this year. Three men so far have declared they will seek the seat suddenly left vacant when Mayor Percy Scourrah abruptly announced he will not seek re-election.

They are Elmer McDermott, J. Donald Smith — both former city aldermen — and R. R. Wilson.

THIRD TO SAY

Ald. J. L. W. McLean, one of four aldermen whose terms end this year, declared yesterday he will seek re-election.

Earlier, Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson and Ald. Geoffrey Edgell made similar declarations.

"I am persuaded that our centennial year should provide Victoria with modern, permanent facilities to meet the needs of our senior citizens."

JUVENILE ISSUE He also cited an adequate city hall; a solution to the "waxing Mountain Circle traffic problem by making Blanshard Street with the Patricia Bay Highway, and a more realistic and positive dealing with our community's problem related to juveniles."

"Two years ago, after being elected to council, I made this promise — to work for the welfare of all citizens to the best of my abilities and with the principles, conscience and positive approach of an unashamed Christian."

NOW BETTER "This promise I have kept. I have gained much knowledge of, and experience in, municipal government and have attended two intermunicipal conferences. As a result I now am better equipped to serve the community than I was two years ago."

Other declared candidates for the council seats are Stanley Haynes, Gordon Carter, Cecil Parrott and William Hudson.

Mayoralty Candidate:

Must Be Partners For Bus Takeover

Greater Victoria municipalities would have to be partners in any move to take over operation of local transit services, city mayoralty candidate R. B. Wilson said yesterday.

He said the most business-like approach would be for the four local municipalities to make a joint study of the transit situation. Then, armed with all the facts available, they should negotiate with the provincial government for the "best possible solution."

Engineers Chosen Victoria branch of the Association of Professional Engineers in B.C. last night elected a new slate of officers. They are John Graeme, chairman; R. G. Foxall, vice-chairman; D. T. Willis, secretary; treasurer; J. H. Doughty; Davies, executive member; D. R. Parks, representing engineers in training; S. J. Cunliffe, past chairman.

Rather than increase bus fares, Mr. Wilson said, the municipalities would be wise to seek settlement calling for a provincial subsidy during the remainder of the franchise period ending in 1967. Buses lost $500,000 here last year.

Fun Fair Friday A family Fun Fair will be held by Bangor School PTA on Friday at 7 p.m. in Colwood Hall.

Culprit Helps Uncover Disappearing Trick

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

WARNING WHISTLE: Character we know had a tradesman in to do some household repairs.

While the work was being done the homeowner went out for a couple of hours and when he returned he noticed that four cases of empty beer bottles were on the tradesman's truck.

The job was finally done and as he was departing the tradesman advised the homeowner to lock his basement door to prevent anyone from getting away with the valuable tools the householder had down there.

That's a good idea, thought the character, going down to lock the door.

It was only then that he noticed the four cases of empty beer bottles he'd stacked in the basement the night before had disappeared!

VICE REGAL BUTIES: A member of Victoria's social set scored quite a coup when Lieutenant-Governor George Wells Minister W. N. Chant's Parkies and Mrs. Parkies at (son-in-law) — are both advocating that the city take over the buses. The two Victoria mayoralty candidates say the service can be made to pay ... Overheard in church, as the collection plate was being passed: "Don't pay for me Dad. I'm under five" ... Why do they do it department: Here we are, still reeling from the effects of the last-minute success of the Red Feather campaign, and even before they've finished counting they're telling us that next year the city has to raise $250,000 for the agencies.

SHELL OUT: City residents fired off a cheque with his electricity bill this week but on the envelope spelled out what he feels the BCE really stands for — "Bumout Control Everything."

THE THINGS WE HEAR! Complaints about the service at one of our newer hotels in the city brought an immediate response from the management. A large number of staff was promptly fired.

REDUCED TO CLEAR: A reader writes of a similar incident to the one reported here the other day about the building setting the $5 bill. He says that late one night, at the height of a party, someone tossed his Labrador a $10 bill. Gulp ... The good citizens of Lagos, Nigeria, are literally bombarding us with letters asking for pen friends. It's quite a racket actually. All they want are North American goods in exchange for cheap native trinkets. Latest example to hand states: "My parents are very poor so I want your help as friend. In this way by sending me the nightly articles, trousers, white coats, fountain pen, shirt, camera, wrist watches for my schooling (and) some of your country dollars I will send any kind of animals or coconuts."

Duncan Man Dies

Boulder Kills Dynamiter
On Port Renfrew Cliff

DUNCAN — A 61-year-old Duncan man was killed instantly by a falling rock while he was preparing a dynamite charge at the B.C. Forest Products property at Port Renfrew Monday.

Dead is Jack Backlund, employed as a powderman on a breakwater construction project.
RCMP at Sooke said an inquest will be held today at 7 p.m. in Duncan.

Mr. Backlund was working on the face of a rock cliff.
Witnesses said he was preparing explosive charges to blast large pieces of rock dislodged by earlier charges when he was struck by the falling boulder.

A doctor summoned from Port Renfrew pronounced him dead.

The cliff face was being blasted to provide rock fill for a harbor breakwater.

Help!

TOPINO — A neighbor was too helpful. A volunteer fireman had to put out a minor blaze when an oil range overheated in the Ben Holmwood home. The Holmwoods were on holiday and a neighbor had it the stove to warm the house for their return.

Duncan Forum

Chemainus Snubs Jaycees

DUNCAN — Chemainus Ratepayers' Association
Tuesday stated it will not sponsor an attempt by the Duncan Junior Chamber of Commerce to hold a forum for North Cowichan candidates for the December election.

Association president Earl English said Chemainus candidates do not feel they should go to Duncan for a forum.
Duncan has no part in the municipal election and Duncan
Jaycees have nothing to do with North Cowichan municipality.

Mr. English, in a direct refusal to recognize the Junior Chamber as a civic body, said he would be most happy to see some other body sponsor such a meeting outside Duncan city limits.

Junior Chamber members, more than 60 per cent of whom live in the municipality, voted surprise and regret at the ratepayers' stand.

Past president D. A.
Williams stated: "Our organization has given time and money to this forum to give candidates an opportunity to meet with the public of the area on common ground.

"The Duncan area represents the focal point of the municipality by number and in ease of access," he said, "and we are most unhappy to find that Chemainus ratepayers give us no more credit for our efforts than to remark we have nothing to do with North Cowichan."

Duncan area voters comprise 2,300 of the 4,370 eligible voters in the municipality, Chemainus voters number 1,300. Crofton administration will be placed before the North Cowichan candidates at the Jaycee forum

Nov. 29 at 8 p.m. in Knights of Pythias Hall.

The forum is directed primarily at ratepayers in an effort to stimulate public interest in the forthcoming elections.
It is hoped that through the Jaycee program a larger number than last year's 15 per cent of local eligible voters will turn out to the polls.

North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton, in endorsing the forum, said it is "high time voters of the district had more understanding of the issues involved in a municipal vote and high time prospective councillors were available to answer the public's questions on their views."

POWER PLAY KENNEDY JOB

May Act as Mediator
Between B.C., Ottawa

By TERRY HAMMOND

In a situation unprecedented in Canada-U.S. diplomatic relations, President John Kennedy seems set to cast himself in the role of intermediary in the bitter B.C.-Ottawa Columbia power feud.

Dispatches from the United States capital and from Ottawa yesterday coincided with the Colonist's exclusive report on the controversial Seattle meeting last Thursday of President Kennedy and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

From information elicited from senior U.S. power authorities and other sources the Colonist said Premier Bennett had sold President Kennedy his power advisers on the B.C. plan for Columbia River development and in return would get White House help in persuading Ottawa to do an about-face on its power export ban.

In a bylined report yesterday, well-known Canadian Press Washington correspondent Harold Morrison stated that the U.S. state department said the U.S. president had nothing to do with planning the talks with Premier Bennett they admitted Kennedy requested and was given a great deal of background information on the Columbia River controversy before he left for Seattle where the talks took place.

The meeting between the president and the premier was "engineered" they said, by Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington State.

A-Ban Talks Agreed

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union yesterday accepted a U.S.-British invitation to resume negotiations for a nuclear test ban under terms that left little hope for agreement.

Soviet foreign ministry notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies said the Russians had agreed to resume the three-power talks in Geneva Nov. 28—the date proposed by Washington and London in a note of Nov. 12.

Conditions posed by the Soviets posed two conditions that foreign observers said could paralyze the new round of the test ban conference almost from the start.

One condition was that the Russians reserved the right to test nuclear weapons if "any power" does so while the talks are in progress.

The second Soviet condition appeared to be that the United States and Britain commit themselves in advance to the Soviet position that general and complete disarmament be the final goal of the Geneva talks.

Nothing in the note indicated the Soviets are ready to abandon their insistence on a three-man "troika" directorship of a test ban control agency.

Support Britain — Farmers

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's basic attitude should be one of support for Britain's negotiations to join the six-nation European Common Market, the largest national farm group said Tuesday.

Dangers exist from the market itself and from Britain's possible entry, president H. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture told the federal-provincial agriculture conference.

But the smart move appears to be to assist such a development. Dr. Hannam said in a submission reflecting the stand of one of the elements of the economy most vulnerable to trade disruption.

Cloak and Dagger Talks

City Hall for 'Song' If Buses Taken Too

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Victoria yesterday was offered a cut-rate city hall as an inducement for the city to take over the B.C. Electric transit system as a package deal.

Cloak and dagger secrecy shrouded the negotiations which occupied Mayor Percy Scurrah most of the day, together with at least one alderman.

Instead, city spokesmen visited Dr. Keenleyside in his office in the B.C. Power Commission building which the city is interested in buying for use as a new city hall.

The power commission's new offer is to sell the B.C. Hydro building to the city for a price much lower than the $800,000 valuation set on the building — provided the city also takes over the Greater Victoria transit system.

Mayor Scurrah, Ald. Griffin and Mr. Wyatt all refused to discuss the matter last night.

There was speculation that the new offer might be a maneuver to split the united front shown by Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt over the transit question.

At a meeting of the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee Friday, Mayor Scurrah warned that "the franchise states very definitely that the bus service cannot be sold without the consent of the municipalities."

"But," he added, "that consent cannot unreasonably be withheld."

REASSURANCE SOUGHT In view of reports that a private company has shown interest in buying the transit system, the intermunicipal committee sought reassurance from Premier Bennett that the municipalities will be consulted before any change of ownership is made in the bus system.

The Public Utilities Commission would have to approve the sale of the system to a private company and a united stand by the four municipalities might block the sale.

More Snow Soon?

This may happen again today. Heavy equipment clears Malahat, buried under inches of snow that soon melted in Tuesday's rain. Snow closed Shawigan cut-off for time and led RCMP to restrict Malahat travel to cars with snow tires or chains. Weather office last night predicted more showers for high spots again overnight. — (Ryan Bros. photo.)

'Shrunken Head Demand Created by Rockefeller'

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UPI)—Dutch officials warned Michael Rockefeller to stop seeking headhunter trophies because he was "creating a demand which could not be met without bloodshed," a Dutch official said here.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, deputy governor-general of Dutch New Guinea, now in Holland on a visit, said he was well acquainted with the 23-year-old son of the governor of New York.

"He was going after headhunter relics along the coast of the Asmat Territory," Boendermaker said.

"Michael" wanted to buy carved shields, totem poles and human heads from the local population. He planned to go down the island's river and cross the sea to Agate village, where 2,000 recently pacified members of a headhunter tribe live.

With hope dimming that Michael would be found alive, Rockefeller met immediately with Dutch government officials for search news.

There was hope that Michael had reached shore after leaving a companion aboard their native-style boat. But the shore line was a swamp infested by snakes and crocodiles.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, New Guinea deputy governor general, said in Holland, it "would be a miracle if Rockefeller is found alive."

Governor Joins Search

BIAK, New Guinea (UPI)—Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York arrived by chartered jet plane yesterday at this northern New Guinea island some 300 miles from the spot where his 23-year-old son Michael disappeared last week.

With hope dimming that Michael would be found alive, Rockefeller met immediately with Dutch government officials for search news.

There was hope that Michael had reached shore after leaving a companion aboard their native-style boat. But the shore line was a swamp infested by snakes and crocodiles.

500 Fund Off to Fine Start

Though The Daily Colonist's 500 Christmas Fund for 1961 is less than three days old, the people of Victoria have responded more rapidly than ever before with help for their less fortunate neighbors.

Total last night stood at $1,119.58 with more cheques appearing in every mail.

Along with his family's annual cheque for $25 came Mayor Percy Scurrah's best wishes for the most successful fund drive ever.

"The 500 Fund provides a worthwhile community service," he said. "It fills a real need in the community and I urge everyone who can to contribute."

To what use is 500 Fund money put after collections end just before Christmas? The total is divided by 500 and a cheque for the amount sent to each of the 500 families in the Greater Victoria area who need it the most.

In the sense that no strings are attached to expenditure of the money, the 500 Fund seeks to bypass ordinary charity. Instead, it may be

Czechs Topple Idols

VIENNA (UPI) — Czech Communist authorities have ordered the 160-ton statue of Josef Stalin removed immediately from a memorial site overlooking Prague.

The Czech Communist central committee has also ordered the dismantling of a statue of former president Klement Gottwald, a Stalin protégé, removed from the Prague Mausoleum and reburied in a cemetery.

Workers Will Win Douglas Tells Rich

TORONTO (CP) — T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said Tuesday night his party hasn't money such as is available to other political groups, but it has members who believe in social democracy and economic justice.

"There is no force in the world can stand against them when they are aroused," he declared.

"There is a day coming in Canada when the people who toll are going to say we are tired of working so that others may grow fat, live in fancy houses that we can't hope to possess and have luxuries when we haven't even the necessities."

"They will join hands and go marching forward to form a government and to build a new democracy."

Mr. Douglas was addressing a nominating convention in Toronto Davenport constituency.

Speeches were given in English, Polish, Italian, Ukrainian and German.
